

RAPTOR RIDDLES

Two turkey vultures were preparing to migrate north for the summer but they decided they were too old to fly so instead they took a plane.

When they were about to board the aircraft, the flight attendant, noticing that both buzzards were carrying a dead armadillo, asked, "Would you like to check those armadillos through as luggage?" "No thanks," the buzzards replied, "they're carrion."

Four vultures were in the desert eating a dead clown. One of the vultures asks another: "Does this taste funny to you?"

Q: What kind of math do Snowy Owls like?

A: Owl-gebra!

Q: Why did the owl say, "Tweet, tweet"?

A: Because she didn't give a hoot!

Someone said you sounded like an owl. (Who?)
